

V&V Depends on the System

- Interactive system which allows railway passengers to find train times from terminals installed in stations
- Railway control system which automatically sets track switches
- System to control anti-loc braking in a car
- University accounting system which is intended to replace an existing system
- Virtual Reality Game
- Medical x-ray system
- Video editing web site